Leaping Bunny Shopping Guide 2012

Feeling confused by all the different cruelty-free labels and claims of no animal testing?
 Not sure who's telling the truth?

Look for the Leaping Bunny!

The Leaping Bunny is the only internationally recognized standard for cruelty-free products and ingredients. It is your assurance that the cosmetic, personal care and household brands you buy are truly against animal testing.

Developed by leading animal protection organizations through the Coalition for Consumer Information on Cosmetics* and the European Coalition to End Animal Experiments, Leaping Bunny certification requires companies to guarantee that they do not conduct or commission animal testing, nor purchase ingredients from suppliers that have been tested on animals after a fixed cut-off date. And all companies must be open to an independent audit to ensure compliance.

The companies listed here have shown that they care about animals. You can show that you care, too, by choosing to buy their products over brands that may have been tested on animals.

With hundreds of companies belonging to the Leaping Bunny Program and more joining all the time, cruelty-free shopping has never been easier!

*The Coalition for Consumer Information on Cosmetics (CCIC) certifies companies manufacturing cosmetic, personal care, and household products in the United States and Canada. CCIC is made up of the following organizations: American Anti-Vivisection Society, Animal Alliance of Canada, Beauty Without Cruelty, USA, Doris Day Animal League, The Humane Society of Canada, The Humane Society of the United States, MSPCA Center for Laboratory Animal Welfare, and the New England Anti-Vivisection Society.

The European Coalition to End Animal Experiments (ECEAE) certifies companies manufacturing cosmetic, personal care, and household products in Europe. ECEAE is made up of the following organizations: ADDA (Spain), Animal (Portugal), Animalia (Finland), BUAV (UK), Deutscher Tierschutzbund (Germany), Djurens Rätt (Sweden), Dyreveralliansen (Norway), EDEV (Netherlands), Forsøgsdyrenes Værn (Denmark), GAIA (Belgium), Irish Anti-Vivisection Society (Ireland), Lega Anti Vivisezione (Italy), Menschen für Tierrechte (Germany), One Voice (France), Prijatelj životinja (Croatia), Svoboda zvírat (Czech Republic) and SSPA (Switzerland).
